The British ship Elliland, which had lain in San Francisco since September 6, 1902, cleared on October 3 for Liverpool with a cargo of merchandise. The Elliland arrived at San Francisco from Swanes with coal four years ago but, on account of the low charter rates at that time, her owners laid up the vessel.

Mail advices from Yokohama state that at a conference held between the Russian Asiatic Steamship Company and Japanese lines at Vladivostok it was decided to establish weekly alternate steamship service between North Japan and Vladivostok, and the Russian Asiatic line announced it would extend its line to San Francisco.

The officials announced that they would form connecting arrangements by which a traveler could journey around the world in forty days.

Supervising Inspector John Bermingham, of San Francisco, has ordered the license of First Mate Fred Farrell of the steamer Mindora suspended for six days, and the license of Captain E. C. Larson of the same vessel suspended for thirty days, on account of a collision between the Mindora and the bark George Curtis between San Francisco and San Diego on April 17.

The inspector holds that it was the duty of the Mindora to keep out of the way of the Curtis. When the George Curtis sailed from Honolulu recently, it had not been heard what action had been taken in the matter of the suit brought against the Mindora.

News comes from Japan that the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, operating the line to San Francisco, has formally inaugurated a new line of steamships connecting Japan with Honolulu and San Francisco. The first vessel of the line, the Kamaoka, was formerly the Russian volunteer steamer Kazan, which was sunk by the Japanese at Port Arthur, and subsequently raised and refitted, and after being used as a troopship by her captors, was sold to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha. The vessel is of steel, was built in England in 1890, and is 100 feet long. She is commanded by Captain W. C. T. B. Filmer, son of Captain Filmer of the Nippon Maru, and who is well known at San Francisco. (Continued on page 3.)

NAVIGATION LAWS DO

NOT APPLY TO MIDWAY

The navigation laws relating to other American ports do not apply to Guam and Midway, according to a decision of the Treasury Department. According to the navigation laws, a foreign vessel may not carry freight or passengers between American ports. At the time of the stranding of the Mongolia on Midway, when it was decided to send the British cable ship Heston to her aid, with provisions, objection was raised by stipulators that such a course was contrary to the law. In the emergency which existed, however, the vessel was allowed to proceed.

The matter has since been brought to the attention of the Treasury Department at Washington, and a decision has been rendered that the restriction had a right to go to Midway.

IMPORTANT RULINGS
BY SUPREME COURT

Trustees Contentions Upheld In Fitchie Will Case

The Supreme Court this morning handed down a decision in the matter of the will of Eliza Fitchie, deceased, which contains a number of points on which rulings have never before been given in the local courts. The contentions of the trustees are upheld in the matter and a decree will be prepared this morning and presented to the court this afternoon.

The syllabus says: "The will established a valid trust for payment from the income of the trust property of the annuities payable by the provisions of the will to the four persons therein named for their respective lives and for payment of the other annuities therein named, to themselves and during their respective lives and thereafter to pay the same to their heirs respectively until the end of 21 years after the death of the last survivor of said other annuitants and during the same period of time to pay to the Kona Orphanage, the annuity directed in the will, and at the end of said 21 years to divide the trust fund and its accumulated and unapplied income as required by the will. The trust is implied for accumulation of the income not required for taxes and for costs and charges of administering the trust and for payment of the annuities. The testator's intention, to be ascertained from the various provisions in the will, was that the division of the trust fund, including therein the accumulated income, should be made by the trustee and that such division should be 'the final ending and distribution of the trust,' also that the trust, meaning to include therein the division of the fund, was to terminate by such division 'when the law requires it,' being the period fixed by the rule against perpetuities at the end of the 21 years after the death of the last surviving annuitant whose heirs, under the will, succeeded to the annuity. The will clearly intends the lives of those annuitants as 'the lives of persons in being' under the rule against perpetuities which rule is law in Hawaii under Sec. 1, R. L.

"In conformity with the view of the court, expressed in Hackfeld v. King, 11 Haw. 5, the Hawaiian Trust Company, Limited, is lawfully authorized to do a trust business as mentioned in its articles of association."

ANDREWS THE FIRST

LOCAL

POLITICAL COLONIST

At Republican headquarters this noon considerable surprise at the virulent outbreak of the Advertiser in the matter of the alleged colonization of the Sixth Precinct of the Fourth District, popularly known as "Sam Johnson's precinct". A number of men, who were indicted by the Grand Jury, are it is stated, perfectly alive to show proof that they actually lived within boundaries of the precinct when they registered. The Republicans claim that the arrests is the work of the Democratic members of the Grand Jury, who caused them because of the political effect they would have, without having sufficient grounds to warrant them.

However, what chiefly surprises the politicians about the Advertiser's attitude is the fact that Loren Andrews, the "Tiger's" pet child, was probably the originator of "colonization" in this Territory. Andrews even went so far as to register himself as a voter of the Sixth Precinct, being the chairman of the precinct club thereof, in spite of the fact that his residence at the time, the 1904 registration, was at Manoa valley. He did so by means of taking a room at the Young Hotel. The politicians fail to see the difference between a laborer's registering from a room in Kakaako and an Attorney General doing so from a room in the Young.

Sheridan Ready To ## Leave For the Coast

Work is still proceeding on the transport Sheridan, though she is in shape to start for the Coast almost any time. It will probably be a week, however, before she will go. The Steam, if she has good weather, should arrive here about Monday. Bad weather would probably delay a boat of her size and extend the voyage to nine or ten days. It will probably take two days after her arrival here for her to coal and get ready for the homeward trip.

The Buford has her coal aboard and is ready to leave.

Reports to the Sheridan have been sufficient practically to stop her leaving and there is very little water coming in.

Captain Peabody's family are to leave for the Coast on the Thomas, which sails about Saturday. The family of Captain Morrow will also go.

SCHOOL CHILDREN
PROUD OF GARDENS

All Kinds of Vegetables And Fruits Are Grown At Kipahulu

The amount of interest which is being taken in gardening in the public schools is very pleasing to the members of the Board of Education. Some of the schools take a great pride in their work and the results are such that they may well be complimented.

The following report from Principal W. W. Taylor of the Kipahulu school speaks for itself as regards what is being done there:

School room swept daily, scrubbed out weekly. Closets disinfected with lye twice monthly. All the vacation weeds have been cleared out, and burned. A very large quantity of small rock has been dug up and dumped into the road in front of the school premises. Over 250 hills of sweet corn besides lettuce, cabbages, beans, Irish potatoes, and tomatoes have been planted in the individual gardens. Forty banana trees have been planted in different parts of the grounds, including Chinese, Spanish and apple varieties. Other trees planted this month include three avocado pear, and four coconut palms. Twelve varieties of tree seeds have been planted and some are already growing. These will be transplanted as time and space will permit. Six avocado pear seeds are just sprouting. All young growing trees have been pruned and most of them fertilized. A dozen papayas have also been planted. Dozens of flower plants have been set out by the girls, and many other things have been attended to in the gardens. Nine large holes four feet deep and six feet wide have been dug by the boys. Nine coconut palms will be planted in them on Arbor Day. Much of our outdoor work is done before 9 a. m. and in recess time. We work while others play.
